

CALL FOR PAPERS

7th WEST COAST RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM ON TECHNOLOGY

SEPTEMBER 11th AND 12th, 2009

The Center for Innovation and Entrepreneurship (University of Washington), Stanford Technology Ventures Program (STVP), Lloyd Greif Center for Entrepreneurial Studies (USC), Charles H. Lundquist Center for Entrepreneurship (University of Oregon), Don Beall Center for Innovation and Entrepreneurship (UC Irvine), and the Kauffman Foundation are jointly sponsoring the 7th West Coast Research Symposium on Technology Entrepreneurship.

Theme: Technology Entrepreneurship: New ventures, established corporations, and universities

Location: University of Washington

Date: September 11 and 12, 2008.

We invite authors to submit papers to the research symposium. Our goal is an exciting forum for scholars interested in technology entrepreneurship research to exchange ideas. The location is the beautiful Pacific Northwest, a spectacular setting at this time of year. Papers focusing on entrepreneurship and innovation in technology-based settings will be given preference.

We expect an intimate conference of about 40 leading scholars from around the world. The conference organizing committee invites the submission of unpublished working papers that advance the state of knowledge on the above topics. A doctoral consortium will precede the conference on Thursday, September 10.

The DEADLINE for submission is Monday, June 22, 2009.

Submit papers online at the WCRS conference website:
